BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN

Couple of Masked Men Appear From Tender.

CAPTURE CAB OCCUPANTS.

Taking Along Locomotive Men the Robbers Proceed to the Mail Car, Where Three Sacks of Letters Are Dumped Into Sack and Taken Off.

Denver, Feb. 13.—Two masked bandits held up Denver and Rio Grande railway train No. 4 at Military Junction, between Fort Logan and Denver early today.

The two bandits, who suddenly appeared from the coal tender, compelled the engineer and fireman to stop the train. The bandits took the two men from the engine cab and fired a number of shots alongside the coaches to intimidate the passengers and train crew. The conductor appeared on the scene. He asked what was the matter and one of the bandits fired at him three times before he escaped. He was not hit.

With their two prisoners the train robbers, one of whom is described as large and the other as small, then went to the door of the mail car and compelled the fireman to call out to the mail clerks to open door. There was two clerks in the car and they were lined up beside the engineer, while one of the robbers forced the fireman to help him put three sacks of registered mail into one large mail sack. This he threw out of the car. The robbers then marched the prisoners a couple of blocks ahead of the train and told them to return.

The bandits made good their escape in the direction of Fort Logan, but is believed they really went in the direction of Denver.

The estimated amount obtained by robbers vary and information on this point is meager. Both clerks agree that only the registered mail was taken, but they have no idea of the value of it. One of the packages taken is said to have been a package of currency from a Salt Lake City bank and this amount estimated at from $1,000 to $5,000.

ATTACK AFTER ATTACK.

Crazy Negro Runs Amuck, but Is Finally Shot and Killed.

Memphis, Feb. 13.—Running amuck, attacking men, women and children and throwing the fashionable neighborhood near Poplar avenue and Dunlap street into a panic, Henry Tate, a crazy negro, was finally shot and killed by W. S. Clement.

Armed with a knife, the negro made attack after attack upon white people. Women were compelled to run from the street and three men were knocked down by the black, apparently bent on murder. Tate was shot three times and after running a short distance after the last bullet hit him dropped dead.

Within a few minutes after the appearance of the negro on the streets an armed mob was in pursuit and a number of shots were fired after the running black. Far ahead of the balance of the pursuing mob, Clement fired with deadly aim. Three of Clement's shots hit the negro—one in the abdomen and the others in the region of the heart and lungs.

HANGED AND RIDDLED.

Negro First Taken Before Young Lady, Who Identifies Him.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 13.—Jake Wade, a negro, who were arrested in Gainesville, accused of being the assailant of Miss Irma Newell at Lakeland last Tuesday, Saturday was lynched immediately following his identification. The negro was en route to Barlow jail when a posse of twenty-five men took him from a train and carried him to the Newell home. Miss Newell said there was no doubt he was her assailant. He was hanged to a tree and his body riddled with bullets.

Patrolman Goes to Chain Gang.

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 13.—Patrolman L. F. Callahan of the city police force was found guilty of extortion and sentenced to serve twelve months on the chain gang. It was charged that he threatened to "run in" a negro unless he was given $1, whereupon the negro produced the dollar, according to the testimony.

HOUSE BUSY SATURDAY.

Gets Down to Business and Several Bills Passed.

Austin, Feb. 13.—Several bills were passed in the house Saturday. All bills considered were on final passage. By vote of 56 to 42 Ridgeway's compulsory education bill passed, as did also Bowles' anti-raffle measure.

Other bills passed were: Bill requiring railroads to have equipment repaired at shops in state; bill fixing permanent location of court of criminal appeals at Austin; bill creating bureau of labor statistics; anti-black-listing bill; bill exempting Collin, Hunt and Ellis counties from county auditors' law. An attempt was made to also exempt Fanning county, but it was defeated.

Bills were introduced as follows: By Munson: Providing for incorporation of companies in aid of and for promotion of agriculture.

By Robertson (of Feath): Fixing compensation of road commissioners of Erath county.

By Vaughan: Regulating fees of justices of the peace, sheriffs and constables in misdemeanors.

By Harmon: Joint resolution fixing qualifications of electors. All three bank deposit guaranty bills which were before the house committee on banks and banking were reported adversely. There will be favorable minority reports, however, on all. One of the bills is by Ray, another by Baker (of Hood) and the third by Nichols. This was done in executive session. From what can be learned the majority of the committee favors the bank guaranty law, but the committee could not agree on any one bill or draft a suitable substitute. Thus it was decided to report all measures adversely. They will now be thrashed out on the floor of the house.

Senate judiciary committee passed on a number of bills. Among them there is:

Favorable: House bill by Walter, making attempt to commit theft from person felony, punishable one to three years in penitentiary.

Favorable: House bill by Cathey, providing for system of county and city depositories.

Favorable: House bill by Robertson (of Bell), making burglary at night in private residence punishable by death, with an amendment that death penalty shall be inflicted only in cases of commission of an assault in connection with burglary.

Favorable: Senate bill by Harper, amending anti-nepotism law so governor or member of legislature can appoint relative as notary public, and also permitting state officials to retain relatives in position where such relative has held position for five years.

Favorable: Bill by Hudspeth, prohibiting cutting of wood, trees, etc., from enclosed lands of another and providing penalty.

Favorable: Senate bill by Terrell (of Bowie), prohibiting screens from being placed in front of pool or billiard rooms.

Governor Signs Two Measures.

Austin, Feb. 13.—Governor signed the joint resolution permitting putting up partition in room of secretary of railroad commission to make office for Commissioner Colquitt; also signed Bryan Panhandle district court bill creating the Sixty-ninth district.

DREADFUL DROUTH.

Branches Cut Off Trees, Leaves Being Fed Cattle.

Llano, Tex., Feb. 13.—The drouth, existing since early last fall, in this section, has reduced stockmen to the extremity of chopping leaf-laden branches from trees to provide food for their starving cattle. The grass has withered and the prairies are almost bald. Water is scarce and cattle dying.

In some parts of this section cowboys have discarded the lariat and spurs and armed themselves with axes for the new and novel work. The oak trees, by reason of their deep piercing roots, have preserved their greenness throughout the drouth, and have meant thousands of dollars to the stricken stockmen.

Gould Will Not Sell.

Fort Worth, Feb. 13.—Railroad officials here have received advices from New York that George Gould holds as false the statement that he intends to retire or sell his lines. Mr. Gould is quoted as saying that Harriman will never acquire the Texas and Pacific or any other of his railway lines while he is alive.

JURY SWORN IN.

Taking of Testimony Begins on Tuesday Morning.

Nashville, Feb. 13.—The jury in the Cooper-Sharp case was sworn in Saturday morning.

When court adjourned Friday afternoon the prosecution asked that the jury be not sworn until the state had a chance to investigate charges against two of the jurors. When court convened Saturday morning Attorney General McCann made no reference to these charges, but simply said:

"We are ready for the jury to be sworn, your honor." The clerk took three jurors at a time, had them place their right hand on the small well worn Bible, which has served in the court for years and they repeated after him the oath to "well and truly try the issue joined between the state of Tennessee and the defendants." Then each juror kissed the book in turn. It was a solemn ceremony.

The state next asked for several days in which to gather witnesses. The court suggested that taking of testimony begin at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and counsel on both sides agreed. Then court adjourned to that time.

TOOK DARKIES' BREATH.

Seven Negroes Are Fined Thirty Million Dollars Each.

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 13.—"I'll go Judge Landis one better and make the fine $30,000,000," said Recorder Picquet in imposing sentence upon seven negroes convicted of violating the health ordinance in allowing garbage to accumulate on their premises. The fine of $30,000,000 was imposed upon each of the defendants, a total of $210,000,000.

Appreciating their inability to pay such fine—figures within themselves absolutely beyond their comprehension—the negroes sank to the bench with groans and staring eyes. They feared that failure to meet the court's demands in the coin of the realm meant life servitude in the penitentiary.

When the uproarious laughter which the announcement of the court had produced had subsided Recorder Picquet suspended the sentences upon condition that each of the defendants deposit $1 with the clerk.

LAYS IN SUPPLY.

Judge Dent Fears Prohibition Will Deprive Him of His Toddy.

Newnan, Ga., Feb. 13.—Judge W. B. Dent, United States commissioner, was found guilty in the city court here on a charge of keeping whisky for sale and was fined $100.

Five barrels of whisky, consigned to Henry Smith of Newnan were seized by the chief of police, who discovered that Smith was none other than Judge Dent, and a warrant was immediately issued for the commissioner. Judge Dent admitted the title to the whisky was in him and explained to the court that, being an old man, accustomed to his toddy, he feared the prohibition movement now sweeping the country would deprive him of his usual drink, whereupon he decided to lay in a store for all future time.

PRESIDENT'S PRESENTS.

One of Them Is a Demijohn of Thirty-Year-Old Whisky.

Washington, Feb. 13.—President Roosevelt and party arrived from their Kentucky trip Saturday afternoon. The president brought back two unique presents. One of them is a demijohn of whisky thirty years old, presented by General John B. Castleman of Louisville, who was one of the Confederate General John Morgan's soldiers. The other is a gold-mounted hickory walking stick, cut from the Lincoln farm, and presented by postmasters of Kentucky through Postmaster Wood of Louisville.

All Five Acquitted.

Waldron, Ark., Feb. 13.—James Ammons, Jr., Bob Self, Bob Ammons and Wyatt Lee, charged with complicity in the recent killing of John Bailey near this place last October by a disguised mob, believed at the time to have been a band of night riders, were acquitted after a trial lasting three days. The mystery of the tragedy is still unsolved. Intense interest prevails, and further investigation may follow.

MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM IS A LAUGHING SUCCESS.

Fortunate indeed were the people who visited the Opera House yesterday afternoon and last evening to see the production of "Mrs. Temple's Telegram."

There was more real, genuine, side-splitting mirth turned loose than at any other performance so far this season. There was all kinds of laughter on tap, from the honest school girl giggle to the hearty haw-haw of the man whose infectious laughter starts somewhere down in his boots and reaches cyclonic proportions by the time to get up to his adam's apple, the final effect of which is widespread, and even causes the frozen faces of undertakers, and would-be, but don't know how to be, ultra society dames to unfold their features and vividly display their facial crockery. "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" is as clean and humorous a comedy as has ever been produced, and is the kind of a play that causes the patrons to always feel that they have gotten more than their money's worth.

The plot is so cleverly and interestingly constructed that the attention of the audience is held at a high point of tension and expectancy all through the performance.

ROBT. DALTON

Robert Dalton, in the role of Frank Fuller, the married friend who endeavors to extricate his crony from arather compromisingly entanglement, is one of the most consistent, graceful and effective liars that ever traveled in matrimonial harness.

Inasmuch as there were many married men in the audience, it is safe to presume that there will be a marked improvement in the lying qualifications of the male portion of Bryan's married population in the immediate future.

Jack Costello, as Jack Temple, the man who "got mixed up" with the wrong wife, gave a most excellent performance, proving himself to be a splendid actor, capable of intelligently and satisfactorily portraying a difficult role.

Oliver Lawrence, as Captain Sharp, had very little to do, but made a big effort to do well.

Fred R. Rurnells, in the character of Wigson the Butler, delivered the goods in magnificent style.

Fannie Midgely handled the part of Mrs. Frank Fuller in an eminently satisfactory manner.

EDNA BURT

The bright and particular star of the company, and the one whose brilliance and splendid ability shone far brighter than all the others combined, was Miss Edna Burt, the good looking, becomingly gowned and intellectual daughter of the ever beautiful and adorable Mabel Burt, who has been a prime favorite of the theatrical public for many years.

If Miss Burt continues her splendid work she will soon outlive her charming and illustrious mother—and that going some.

Her impersonation of Mrs. Jack Temple was superb and left absolutely nothing to be desired.

This attraction plays Calvert Monday night and should pack the Opera House, as we consider it is one of the best comedies that has visited Bryan this season. Manager Casimer should consider himself lucky in getting such an excellent play.
